Comprehensive Maintenance Packages

Prevention is better than cure

A well maintained system provides precise ventilation, humidity control, and airflow distribution, along with quiet operation, reliability, and cost efficiency.

Regular maintenance ensures optimal air quality, helps prevent the spread of airborne pathogens, and maintains a comfortable environment for patients and staff. That's why we provide comprehensive service and maintenance contracts tailored to your needs.

Reduce operational downtime

Air conditioning equipment contains numerous component parts - regular maintenance ensures all systems are running correctly and at their optimal operation.

By observing the correct servicing intervals (as recommended by manufacturers), maintenance reduces premature component failure and operational downtime.

Priority Call Outs

Our contract packages include priority call outs

Even with regular maintenance system faults can happen at any time. Our round-the-clock support services minimises downtime.

Whether you encounter an unexpected breakdown or require routine servicing, we have a team of skilled engineers located across the UK. With our extensive network of experienced service engineers, we offer comprehensive coverage for emergency call outs any time of day or night.
